INTRODUCTION

A fume hood is laboratory equipment used to get rid of the fumes and toxins from the workplace. The primary function of the laboratory fume hood is to protect personnel from toxic exhalation or dust. Usually, the chemical fume hood is just a part of the lab ventilation system, serving to limit the toxic air to non-laboratory areas. Fume hoods from “Swastik Engineering” have a modern design that helps to cut energy ventilation costs. Our company is a manufacturer the most cost-effective and economical equipment which provide a complete combination of protection, safety, reliability, and a great efficiency. They are sold in a wide range of industries worldwide, e.g. pharmacy, medicine, research institute, electronics, etc

Our fume hood made of aerodynamically designed considering most efficient airflow to the suction. Double wall feature provides easy access to utilities like Water, gas, vacuum & electricity. Detachable base storage cabinets are provided with castors for easy maintenance, Sigma offers velocity of lining & work surfaces like Granite, ceramic, S.S., P.P. & FRP. Such is provided with 6 mm toughened glass & counter balance is provided to achieve easy movement. High performance centrifugal blower is provided with different ducting materials like PP/HDPE/PVC etc.
